It is with great pride that I cxtend to you my best wishes on your graduation from the William Floyd High School. It is difficult to realize what an important milestone this is in your careers. At this time, each of you pursue individual paths which give purpose and meaning to life in its broadest sense.

It is not an easy task to convey concisely my innermost feelings concerning my hopes for the future. However, you will note that I take great pride in you, our graduates, who have achieved a level of academic competence and in whose hands, now our nation places its trust for the future.

It is our hope that as you make your contribution to our democratic society that you will take pride in yourselves, your families, your communities and your nation. In that way, you cannot help but make this world a better place in which to live.

Chancellor

President of the University and Commissioner of Education

To Each of you of the Class of 1969:

Historians have already begun to compile the significant events of your generation. While we are told that past generations have been doomed and praised, scholars note that every generation tints its profile with its own moral pigment and political posture.

Though your generation has been wracked with the turbulence of a long and bitter war, you have chosen to challenge the "classic" truths and express your dissent through dialog and demonstrations. Never before has our youth been so vitally a part of the action. And never before has our constitutional freedoms been so perverted into "irresponsible liberties." Anarchists, racists, communists, and extremists have insidiously donned the chameleon's coat to confuse our youth, fracture our citizenry with color lines, and blight our nation's morality.

Science concurrently has spearheaded significant breakthroughs—searching not only for pure truth, but for social and economic means to proliferate the better life for all the colors of God's man.

Mass media's thundering light has awakened our most miserable human if only to glimpse at the fuller life. Technocracy has revolutionized our daily experiences within a fantastically short time span, as our doctors dare to prolong life.

Many of our treasured classic truths have been undressed and now stand as bare myths. Sacred cows of Dogma have crumpled under the emotional and moral need for dignity and new truths. And as with all purges, some of our promising seeds and fruits have been buried as the rotted fruits fall to the winds of wrath for Equality and Justice.

I submit, however, our greatest challenge is not the discovery of truth, but harnessing its constructive energy. For too long our conservative elders have rated the pace of progress with tightened reins. Our poor and oppressed have drained their reservoir of patience. Their knees can no longer crawl the guttered snail paced road of change. And even more frustrating, our well-meaning citizenry is unable to keep above the waters of the gushing currents for change.

We need to discover change processes which are acceptable and workable for both the poor and the more fortunate; our Red, our White and our Black; our youth and our aged; our communities and our churches; our schools and our universities; our cities and our suburbs; our industries and our governments. Very soon now we may well need to be concerned with the state of our Sister—Moon.

Yes—your generation of Responsible Dissent has energized the reformation of truth which hopefully shall enhance the acceleration of political, social and economic reforms.

The near great future of the 21st Century shall be your present and eventual past.

Fellow students, I commend to you to live each moment with hope instilled with Godly prayer. The breath of life on earth is but a mere gasp. Ahead of us must lie the eternal fulfillment.

Sincerely,

W. Chris Custer

MR. NORMAN BESSETTE

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the Senior Class of 1969 for your accomplishments.

Never before has a nation tried to achieve such mass education of its people and under such pressures of technological advance. To cope with this tremendous advance we must continue to grow in character. Do not confuse knowledge and skill with wisdom, nor character with intelligence. Instead, recognize wisdom and character as the finest virtues which you should develop.

I sincerely hope that your present judgements pertaining to the future will contain these virtues.

Norman W. Bessette

During your 12 years of schooling, you have learned many things. Many of these things you will forget. If, however, you remember to love one another—the 12 years will have been very worthwhile.

God Love You All

As our precious year draws to a close, we look back upon our previous years. We have memories of old and new friends that made our high school life more enjoyable through the years. We hope we have succeeded in our endeavor to capture these memories between the covers of the 1969 Colonial.

I would like to take this time to thank the students and staff, our advisors and faculty for their co-operation and patience.

So to you I present the 1969 Colonial.
